New Storm Sweeping Out From Rockies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold front was expected to sweep into the state from the northwest tonight and put an abrupt end to the slightly warmer weather Arkansas has enjoyed the last two days.

Cold wave warnings were issued for the northern and western portions of the state for tonight, with cloudy and much colder weather expected elsewhere.

Sleet or freezing rain that could change to light snow was expected to accompany overnight lows of 5-15 degrees north and 15-25 south.

Hazardous driving conditions were predicted for tonight and Wednesday in all sections of the state.

Light, southerly winds were expected to fan warm air over the state early today, but were expected to become northerly tonight and Wednesday, dropping temperatures sharply.

Overnight lows today ranged from the low 20s to the low 30s with only a trace of precipitation reported at Walnut Ridge during the 24-hour period ending today at 6 a.m.

A fresh snowstorm swept across areas from the Rockies eastward into the Midwest today and a new surge of cold air spread into the East and deep into the Southland.

Subzero temperatures clung to much of the northern Midwest, with no general, immediate relief indicated in the prolonged cold wave. The new mass of arctic air which invaded the Northeast dropped temperatures below zero in northern Maine and western New York State.

Freezing weather chilled areas in northern Florida and much of the Southeast. Miami shimmered as the mercury dropped into the

Measure to Curb Write-in Candidates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rules Committee of the Arkansas House recommended passage today of a bill to require write-in candidates to announce 30 days, instead of 48 hours, before the election in which they plan to run.

The committee gave the bill a unanimous "do pass" without discussion.

The committee also recommended passage of bills to permit display of election ballots on television for instructional purposes and to increase the salary of judges and clerks in general elections from $4 to $7 a day.

Committee Chairman Glenn Walther of Pulaski County said the committee would hold up action on all bills to effect basic changes in election laws and act on all of them later, probably at a public hearing.

He said all bills to implement changes in liquor laws also would be handled at one time.

The only lengthy discussion at today's committee meeting came over a bill by Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County to change the procedure under which judges and clerks are appointed for general elections.

Van Dalsem's bill, which finally got a "do pass" recommendation by a 7-1 vote, would relieve the minority party of authority to appoint anyone except a member of the minority party as a judge or clerk.

The Center also has available slide sets, filmstrips and films for use by club groups, college classes on an school systems. Members of the Center's staff and faculty also consult and work with groups and individuals in community programs designed to create interest in all the arts.

"Our expanding extension services, of which the Artmobile is the newest, is one of several functions carried on by the Center in an effort to fulfill its overall objective of developing the understanding and appreciation of the visual and performing arts throughout Arkansas," Alan R. Symonds, Director of the Arts Center, said.

The committee discussed a bill by Ashley County Rep. N. B. Murphy to set the salary of various county officials in Ashley County. Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell Jr. objected to the bill because he said it contained generous salary increases for the county officials at a time when county governments were telling the legislature they did not have enough money to get by on.

Walther remarked, "We've seen them break themselves for years and then come and beg for more money."

The committee recommended passage of a bill by Bradley County Rep. Bill Wells to eliminate the right of 10th Judicial Circuit deputy prosecutors to collect a $10 fee in cases in which the defendant pleads guilty.

The committee approved the bill after Wells agreed to introduce another bill to make the fee provisions statewide.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Introduction of new legislation was expected to be the principal order of business in the Arkansas Legislature again today.

Filing and reading of bills took up most of Monday's brief sessions. Lawmakers quit early to take a tour of the Little Rock Air Force base.

Short sessions were likely again today with a trip to Star City to view industrial facilities on the afternoon agenda. Both houses were scheduled to reconvene at the noon today.

The Senate passed a bill to set health and welfare salaries of municipal judges at $6,400 a year and three other inferior salary bills Monday. The measures now go to the House for action.

These were the first bills passed in the week-old legislature except for bills appropriating money to pay legislative expenses, which were passed and signed into law last week.

Jury to Get Hester Case This Afternoon

Arguments were slated to get underway at 1:30 p.m. today in the trial of Bob Hester, 54, of McNab, charged in the fatal shooting Oct. 21, 1962 of Phillip Knighton, 41, in the Yellow Creek area near McNab.

Officials said consultations were completed over the weekend.

The plant will roll used railroad rails into construction reinforcement and will produce steel fence posts. The mill will include a 190-by-45 foot facility housing three steel rolling machines, a 2,300-degree furnace and cooling beds.

The company decided to locate at Paris after negotiations with the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and city officials, according to Julian Taylor, a company engineer.

Then each meter will have to be turned back on, the gas company estimated the job would take until midnight tonight. But some of the 1,300 customers will have service by tonight, Arkla said.

Meanwhile there was no gas for homes, hospitals, schools, businesses in the town of about 3,500.

Stores reported dozens of customers trying to buy electric heaters and electric blankets.

The gas was cut off by a regulator failure while a crew was laying a six-inch gas line from Nashville to a Diers Forest Co. wallboard plant nine miles northwest of the city, Arkla said.

All gas pressure was lost. B. L. Caylor, local manager for the gas company, said crews were working on the regulator.

But the big job lay in turning off each individual meter, he said.

After service is turned back on, crews will have to return to each house, turn on the gas meter, and light all fires and pilot lights.

The temperature stood at 35 degrees in Nashville at mid-morning.

The cold wave expected to sweep over the state tonight was expected to push temperatures down into the 20s in the Nashville area.

Factories that operate with gas were shut down. The Nashville News reported it was "out of business for the day" because there was no gas to run linotype machines.

School lunchrooms and hospital kitchens had no gas for cooking.

Paris Plant to Start Operations

PARIS, Ark. (AP) — The Paris Steel Co., a steel rolling mill that will employ up to 100 persons, will begin operations within 90 days, Chamber of Commerce officials said here Monday.

The company, Rinehart and Donovan Co. of Oklahoma City, Okla., will build its own plant and furnish the machinery without financial aid from Paris or Logan County.

Officials said consultations were completed over the weekend.

Nashville Is Without Gas, Cold Coming

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Gas was inadvertently cut off to this southwest Arkansas town today, leaving it crippled in near-freezing weather for up to 14 hours.

A cold wave was forecast for the state late this afternoon.

Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. was calling in crews from all over Arkansas to help turn off all residential and business gas meters to avoid fires and explosions when the gas is turned back on.

Bill Would Open Gate to Higher Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposed amendment to the Arkansas Constitution to raise the property tax limit to 10 mills for city and county general purposes would raise your tax bill $2 to 57 for each $1,000 assessed valuation, depending on where you live.

The maximum increase for most rural residents would be $2 a year per $1,000 assessed valuation, and urban dwellers would get a $7 increase for each $1,000.

If the amendment is adopted the percentage increase would vary widely because Arkansas tax rates vary widely. An amendment is necessary to make the change because property taxes are governed by the state constitution.

Cities can levy a total of 12 mills to cover general purposes, capital improvements and pensions for firemen and policemen. Counties can levy a total of 20 mills for general purposes, certain capital improvements, libraries, roads and operation of a county hospital.

If all these taxes were levied, a city resident could pay a total of 17 mills, since he pays both city and county taxes.

In addition, both counties and cities could levy 5 mills to finance industrial bond issues.

The biggest property tax bite comes from school districts, where the levy ranges from 51 mills in the Pulaski County Special (Rural) District to 18 mills in three small rural districts. The average is 36 mills.

Monetary, each mill represents $1 per $1,000 assessed value.

The minimum property assessment ratio is 18 per cent, the average is 19 to 20 and state Assessment Co-ordination Division records show the highest is 21.53 per cent in Washington County.

For example, assume an individual owns a home valued at $12,500 and personal property worth $2,500. His assessment ratio is 20 per cent, so the assessed value of his property is $3,000.

His tax bill could range from as low as $81 a year if he lived in the Fulton County Rural School District or as high as $216 if he lived in Little Rock and paid school taxes to the Pulaski County Special District.

The proposed increase would affect only the levy for general purposes. It would incorporate the county road tax into the 10-mill county limit, so the net increase would be 2 mills for a county and 5 mills for a city. There would be no requirement to levy the maximum tax.

ACD records show total assessed valuation of property in the state last year was $1.1 billion. Applied to this valuation, the 2 mill increase would produce an additional $2.2 million each year for county governments.

Assessed valuation in cities was $500 million, according to the Arkansas Municipal League estimate. Based on this valuation, the 5 mill increase would produce an additional $2.5 million annually for city governments.

The amendment, which has the backing of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, first must be referred to the ballot by the 1963 General Assembly. Voters will have the final say in the 1964 general election.

Both the 1959 and 1961 legislatures referred city-county taxing amendments to voters. They were defeated each time.

Assault to Rob Charge Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A charge of assault to rob was filed in Circuit Court here Monday against William Carlton Bramlett, 24, of Fort Smith.

He is charged in connection with the attempted holdup of a Little Rock liquor store last Saturday night.

The companion, Billy Wayne Foster, 27, also of Fort Smith, was shot to death at the store.

Bramlett was held in the city jail in lieu of $7,500 bond.

Two petrified turtles, weighing at least a ton apiece, were found in Keener Cave, near Keener, in Boone County.

Gas Trouble, City Has 11 Fires

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Eleven fires broke out in Blytheville late Monday as the result of a broken gas line regulator, firemen said.

All the fires occurred in an 11-block area. Six residences and five businesses were damaged, but all the fires were brought under control and there were no injuries. Senate introductions included bills to increase the state tax on diesel fuel from 6½ cents to 8½ cents a gallon, to outlaw dumping of trash within quarter mile of schools and churches and to appropriate $61,130 to finance a mobile diagnostic clinic for the Arkansas Children's Colony.

Rep. Lacy Landers of Saline County introduced a bill which he said would help prevent theft of auto parts, tires and accessories. It would require auto parts dealers to keep records for 90 days on persons who offer to sell them such merchandise.

Sen. James W. Raney of Warren introduced a bill which provides that when municipal judges are elected by a countywide vote that they need not be residents of the city in which the court is located.

Merritt, who escaped from the state prison farm Dec. 4, was arrested Saturday in connection with the $57 robbery of the Temple Theater. Police said they recovered $25.

Merritt was serving a 15-year sentence at the prison farm for a series of burglaries.

BILL RALEY

An interesting article tells us that a new record will be set in 1963 in retail trade.

Nearly 300 billion dollars will be spent with merchants during the coming year. There will be more dollars to spend (somebody must have a money tree), and there will be several million more people to do the buying or to be bought for. People will spend more for food than anything else. Meat will perhaps be more expensive and so will milk and bread, at least that is the outlook now.

But clothing is expected to stay fairly stable. However, there are differences of opinion among the top ranking merchants in the country, and as usual it remains a guessing game to some extent.

We were interested in the comment that change in taste has occurred, and people will buy more furs, formal and conventional clothes than in the past. Looks as if blue jeans are gone except for country wear, and the sloppy casuals are a thing of the past. Pants, the Capri type, etc., will be more loosely fitted and sportswear will take on a completely new look.

And you want to know something ... well, we have some of those new things in stock right now at Raley's Style Shoppe.

Charge NFL With Monopoly Powers

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—The American Football League renewed charges today that its long-established rival, the National Football League, used monopolistic powers in conspiracy to block creation of the new league three years ago.

AFL attorneys outlined the history of the establishment of the new league in 1959 and 1960 before a three-judge panel of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals. The AFL is appealing a lower court decision which rejected its $10.8 million antitrust suit against the NFL.

Goldwater's Friends to Salute Him

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican colleagues are arranging a dinner salute to Sen. Barry Goldwater which they hope will produce $500,000 to help bail out financially strapped party committees.

No mere $100-a-plate affair, the Goldwater testimonial is expected to attract sizable subscriptions from party financial angels who applaud the Arizona senator's conservative views.

It tends to implant the Goldwater image more firmly on the party. GOP liberals will not like that. But some of them conceded privately there isn't much they can do about it.

Presumably the dinner, presently scheduled for Feb. 28, will supplant the customary June congressional fund-raising rally at which former President Dwight Eisenhower has been the principal attraction in recent years.

Goldwater has retired from the post he has held for four years as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

In agreeing to permit himself to be lauded publicly for the contributions he has made toward getting Republican senators elected, Goldwater laid down some limits.

The first of these is that there mustn't be anything said about him as a potential candidate for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination. It will be all right, however, to remind the faithful that there is in the offing his likely candidacy for re-election in Arizona next year.

Primarily the dinner is planned for members of the Senate and House. But Goldwater has stipulated that Republican governors also must be invited, but not necessarily urged, to attend.

Whether New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller would feel called upon to join in the festivities remained problematical. Rockefeller, regarded as a leading possibility for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, has a legislature on his hands.

Coming and Going

The Ross Copelands went to Arkadelphia Sunday for a family gathering at the James Copeland home.

Mrs. Arthur Wimbell has returned to her home in McCaskill after a trip to Haddonfield, N. J., to visit her son and family. While there she attended a concert in Philadelphia by Van Cliburn, with the Philadelphia by Van Cliburn, with the Philadelphia Orchestra directed by Eugene Ormandy, and also a recital by Lorin Hollander, Young pianist from New York.

How To Approach Sex?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am an inexperienced boy of 20 going steady with an 18-year-old girl who is equally inexperienced — as far as love is concerned. We have frequently discussed our lack of knowledge in this field but I still don't know her real feelings on this subject.

Occasionally, we sit in my car and neck. She goes along with it for awhile then, all of a sudden, shoves me away, saying, "That's enough." Yet she seems to enjoy my kisses. This makes me wonder what she really wants.

Our friends all park and pet, even my two brothers — both younger than I. My girl and I know the difference between right and wrong and certainly we're affectionate but —

I have been told of three couples who married without any previous experience and, boy, did they regret it! Remember that old saying, "You don't buy a pair of shoes without trying them on." How much truth is there to this?

Success of Operation Not Known

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Carol Ann Todd, 8, of Prairie Grove Ark., continued resting at Texas Children's Hospital here today after undergoing heart surgery Monday.

Doctors said they could determine whether the operation was a success until 24 to 48 hours after it was completed.

The operation was to close a hole in the wall between the two upper chambers of her heart. A spokesman said the defect, congenital in Carol Ann's case, usually was corrected by putting a plastic patch over the hole.

The technique was developed by surgeons at Baylor University's College of Medicine. Other surgeons developed the type of surgery used in the operation Monday.

Surgery was made possible by a fund drive co-ordinated by the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville.

A spokesman said it could not be determined how long Carol Ann would remain in the hospital. She was admitted last week for tests preparatory to the operation.

"She didn't mind the thought of her chest being opened," the spokesman said. "It was the needle in the arm she dreaded."

Mrs. Peggy Ann Todd, mother of the girl, is a cook for a fraternity at the University of Arkansas.

New Effort for Test Ban Agreement

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union launch here today a major new effort to reach a nuclear test ban agreement.

The conference is regarded as the best chance in almost two years to break the long deadlock. U.S. officials, however, up to now, have expressed hope with words of caution.

They stressed that many issues — both major and minor — will have to be solved, particularly the U.S. and Soviet differences over inspections to guard against test cheating.

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko dashed a little cold water on optimism. He told correspondents that the Soviet Union can agree to only three on-site inspections a year. The United States contends this is not enough. Gromyko also insisted that France must join in any test ban agreement.

The action cannot be taken until the federal Securities and Exchange Commission gives its approval. The new issue will not change the company's current indebtedness of $138 million.

would accept two or three on-site inspections a year as part of a system to prevent sneak testing.

Kennedy replied he was encouraged by Khrushchev's change of attitude which the Soviet premier called "major act of good will on the part of the Soviet Union."

UN Forces Advance, No Trouble

KOLWEZI, Katanga (AP) —

United Nations forces moved peacefully into Kolwezi today and the military action to reintegrate Katanga with the rest of the Congo seemed virtually at an end.

"We are not coming as conquerors but as friends of the Congolese people," Noronha told the Katanga leader.

The U.N. task force of 100 trucks, armored cars, troop carriers and amphibious vehicles rendezvoused with a Katangan peace delegation at the little village of Pumpi, 45 miles from the center of this big mining and refinery town.

Tshombe was expected at Pumpi but did not show up.

Around four folding tin tables set up at the roadside, Noronha discussed his plan for entering Kolwezi with the Katangans.

"Expect cooperation and hope there will be no problems of law and order," he said.

Replied the Katangans: "We come to meet you as friends and not as enemies."

Then, with Noronha in the lead, the U.N. column started to roll.

At the 400 yard-long Delcomme Bridge over the Lualaba River, four tons of explosive were removed by Indian engineers. The explosive was placed in position two weeks ago, when Tshombe threatened a scorched earth campaign to hold up the advancing U.N. troops but detonators were removed by the president's white soldiers some 12 hours before the U.N. arrived.

On the Kolwezi side of the bridge, Noronha stopped his jeep to personally disconnect a wire leading to an electric detonator.

Thirty minutes later, the Indian commander and his troops, soldiers of the Rajputana Rifles, took over the rocket-shattered Kolwezi air field, once the headquarters of Katanga's little air force. It was blasted by Swedish jets soon after Christmas and charred wrecks of several Katangan planes still littered the tar-whether civil rights legislation would be presented to Congress this year he said: "Yes, the President will send to the Congress a measure to carry out what he said is one of the most important principles—namely that in this country the right to vote should not be denied to any man because of his race or color."

Vostok Is Coldest Place in World

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY WASHINGTON (AP) — When you are shivering these cold days you might cheer yourself up by thinking of the poor Russians at a Soviet antarctic station called Vostok.

That's the coldest spot in the world. The U.S. Weather Bureau says the thermometer there registered a global record by slumping to 126.9 below zero on Aug. 24, 1960.

As for the North American continent, the most frigid weather ever recorded was a mere 81 degrees below zero. That happened Feb. 3, 1947 at a forlorn airport station called Snag in Yukon Territory, Canada.

The record cold for the United States was 76 below at Tanana, Alaska, in January 1898. Of course, Alaska wasn't a state then.

Guess which state has never experienced below-zero weather. Not Florida, as you might expect, but Hawaii. Its record cold was 18 above zero at Haleakala, Feb. 9, 1941.

The mercury dipped to minus 2 degrees at Tallahassee, Fla., Feb. 13, 1899.

California has a lot of clement climate, but it can get mighty chilly up on those hills. Lowest for this state was 45 below Jan. 20, 1937, at Boca.

A number of these bone-chilling temperatures were recorded by unsung, unpaid volunteers known as "cooperative weather observers." The Weather Bureau has some 14,000 of them.

They are civilians who do the job for the love of it and for the gold lapel pin, with 3-point diamond, which the Weather Bureau awards them after 50 years of service.

Blizzards, floods or hurricanes cannot prevent them from fighting their way outdoors to read their official thermometer or precipitation gauges. They have been chased by moose and menaced by rattlesnakes.

The highest official temperature ever recorded in the world was 136.4 at Azizia, Libya, North Africa, Sept. 13, 1922.

As for the North American continent, the record is 134 degrees. This was set July 10, 1913 at the Greenland Ranch in Death Valley, California.

Authoritative sources here regard the document, dated Sept. 25, 1962, as genuine and of great importance in evaluating Red strategy. It apparently is a sort of Viet Cong annual report.

America's dilemma on the size of forces it should commit, the document says, "is the key weakness in U.S.-South Vietnamese efforts against the Communists."

The document says that the United States is afraid of committing large numbers of troops because that would invite intervention by the Communist bloc of nations and bring about a world war.

The result may be that "the enemy may get bogged down," the document continues. There-
